

MEDIATOR OPENING STATEMENT

Hello, Good Morning/Afternoon. Please come in and have a seat. Allow me to introduce myself, my name is Saksham. May I speak directly to your client?

Please review the Agreement to Mediate and other appropriate paperwork I've given you and, if okay, please sign.

Comforting Questions

- Is the seating comfortable?
- Is the lighting okay?
- Does anyone have any time or other limitations we should be aware of?

Decision Makers

Are you capable of, and can you make a decision(s) regarding the resolution of this matter, if you deem it appropriate? In other words, can you make a decision without talking with anyone not here?

Opening Statement

I am now going to make what mediators call an opening statement (O/S). My O/S will tell you about your rights and entitlements, what to expect, and what will occur here to give you a heads-up as to what to anticipate from this mediation.

After I'm finished with my O/S, I'd like to hear an uninterrupted O/S from you. Please tell me what you think I need to know to bring me up to speed so I can be as effective as possible in helping you make the most of this mediation.

What is mediation and what is a mediator?

Mediation is negotiation with the assistance of a neutral, the mediator. I'm here to help you negotiate. The purpose of mediation is to help you, if possible, find common ground so this matter may be resolved.

Rights and/or Entitlements

1. Confidentiality

I will keep all that I hear in this mediation confidential and will not share any of it with anyone. I also request you keep what is discussed confidential as well.
