Peter Sills, 2014-02-15 The war in Vietnam spanning more than twenty years was one of the most divisive conflicts ever to envelop the United States and its complexity and consequences did not end with the fall of Saigon in 1975 As Peter Sills demonstrates in Toxic War veterans faced a new enemy beyond post traumatic stress disorder or debilitating battle injuries Many of them faced a new more pernicious slow killing enemy the cancerous effects of Agent Orange Originally introduced by Dow and other chemical companies as a herbicide in the United States and adopted by the military as a method of deforesting the war zone of Vietnam in order to deny the enemy cover Agent Orange also found its way into the systems of numerous active duty soldiers Sills argues that manufacturers understood the dangers of this compound and did nothing to protect American soldiers Toxic War takes the reader behind the scenes into the halls of political power and industry where the debates about the use of Agent Orange and its potential side effects raged In the end the only way these veterans could seek justice was in the court of law and public opinion Unprecedented in its access to legal medical and government documentation as well as to the personal testimonies of veterans Toxic War endeavors to explore all sides of this epic battle

The fifty seven papers presented in this volume give a complete overview of the knowledge to date in radiation biology. The accessibility of the unique radiation environment in space and the increasing involvement of human beings in space missions have initiated substantial research activities in the various fields of space radiation biology dealing with radiation detection and measurement, biological mechanisms of the hard component of cosmic radiation, impact of space environment on radiobiological processes and also radiation protection issues. Besides offering opportunities for radiobiological experiments in space, the current space exploration programme even requires the collection of radiobiological data in space and at accelerators as baseline information for estimating radiation risks to humans on future space missions and for establishing radiation standards for manned spaceflight.

Life Sciences and Space Research XXV(4) COSPAR. Plenary Meeting, 1994. These proceedings contain 56 papers that cover such topics as extraterrestrial organic chemistry and the origins of life on Mars, planetary protection for Mars missions and chemical evolution on Titan.
