Instructor:

Mr. Chris Tennant

Textbook and Materials:

"McDougal-Littell Life Science"

This book is broken into 4 separate books for the students: "Ecology", "Life Over Time", "Cells and Heredity", and "Diversity of Living Things". We will switch between these books as needed and will normally only use 1-2 of them at a time.

This class also requires:

- A notebook for notes
- Pens/pencils
- Loose leaf paper for classwork
- A calculator

Class Description:

This course will cover the life sciences at the 8th grade level, with a strong emphasis on field trips, labs, and classroom activities to help students understand and interact with the material as much as possible. The major focuses of the course are cells, plants, animals, and ecology. The curriculum schedule is covered below.

Labs:

Labs will take place once per week, normally on Wednesdays. The purpose of labs is to help students interact with the material in a hands-on fashion, allowing themselves time to test new things and think critically about what we're learning. Labs are worth 15 points each and will always be done in groups. I consider labs to be one of the most important parts of this class, so I try to put a lot of work into them. We spend the majority of each week building up to the lab, and the last day of the week reflecting on it.

Reliability of Confidence Intervals Calculated by Bootstrap and Classical Methods Using the FIA 1-Ha Plot Design Hans T.
Schreuder,Michael S. Williams,2000 In simulation sampling from forest populations using sample sizes of 20 40 and 60 plots respectively confidence intervals based on the bootstrap accelerated percentile and t distribution based were calculated and compared with those based on the classical t confidence intervals for mapped populations and subdomains within those populations A 68 1 ha mapped population constructed out of 0 081 ha 1 5 acre Forest Inventory and Analysis of the USDA Forest Service FIA plot measurements at 2 points of time in Maine United States and a 64 ha mapped population from Surinam South America with only one measurement were used The plot designs used were the FIA plot consisting of a 1 ha circular plot subsampled by four 0 0169 ha 1 24 acre subplots a 0 081 ha plot that was used in the north east by FIA and a 10 point cluster of VRP plots that was used in the north central by FIA The confidence intervals of all estimates even those from a sample of size 60 failed to meet the nominal 95% standard Of the 4 methods used to derive the intervals the classical method was consistently best in terms of achieved confidence level This was followed by the three bootstrap methods t distribution based accelerated and percentile We recommend use of the classical t confidence intervals even for small sample sizes and less common attributes If the classical standard error cannot be computed easily the t distribution based bootstrap should be used since it gives only slightly less reliable confidence levels Also the bootstrap standard error can often be computed in situations where the classical standard error cannot be
