fewer than half a dozen regional and national evaluation organizations around the world Today there are more than fifty attesting to a growing interest in the practice of program evaluation internationally Many of these new organizations have undertaken efforts to develop their own standards or to modify existing sets most typically the Program Evaluation Standards of the Joint Committee on Standards for Educational Evaluation for use in their own cultural context Following two introductory chapters one a conceptual overview and the second a history of the development and revisions of the Program

Evaluation Standards this issue documents standards development efforts in three different settings Western Europe Africa and Australasia In addition because nongovernmental organizations and governments have entered the standard setting business other chapters describe standards development activities by the European Commission and CARE International The content points to the challenge of formalizing standards for program evaluation given cross cultural differences in values and to the continuing challenges related to implementing voluntary standards This is the 104th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Evaluation Congress and Program Evaluation Clinton T. Program evaluations can play an important role in public policy debates and in oversight of government programs potentially affecting decisions about program design operation and funding One technique that has received significant recent attention is the randomised controlled trial RCT There are also many other types of evaluation including the observational and qualitative designs Program Evaluation in a Complex Organizational System: Lessons from Cooperative Extension

Marc T. Braverman, 2008 This issue of New Directions for Evaluation focuses on evaluation in complex organizations The themes that are examined the mainstreaming of evaluation within organizations the growth of evaluation capacity and the use of evaluation to promote organizational learning are relevant for evaluators who operate in environments marked by multiple organizational levels varied funding streams divergent purposes for evaluative information and numerous stakeholders and organizational partners The national Cooperative Extension System serves as a recurring case study that links the topics together Cooperative Extension is a system of institutions that includes every state's land grant universities the U.S. Department of Agriculture and local county governments The linkages across professional communities and distinct institutions create a highly complex environment presenting numerous challenges for evaluators working with community based programs Extension's experiences contribute to a rapidly evolving knowledge base about effective evaluation practice across a variety of organizational settings This is the 120th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly thematic journal New Directions for Evaluation an official publication of the American Evaluation Association The journal publishes empirical methodological and theoretical works on all aspects of evaluation Each issue is devoted to a single topic with contributions solicited organized reviewed and edited by a guest editor or editors Issues may take any of several forms such as a series of related chapters a debate or a long article followed by brief critical commentaries Theorists' Models in Action Marvin Alkin, 2005-08-11 This volume analyzes how evaluation theorists apply their approach in practice A scenario of a situation at an elementary school is presented to four prominent theorists who describe how they would design and conduct an evaluation of the school's program The editors consider the theorists proposed evaluations as well as their subsequent comments to develop themes related to the influence of theory and context on practice They also provide a comparative analysis of the theorists evaluation approaches in relation to the context of evaluation case presented Evaluation theorists seem to be quite good at propounding on how they think the evaluation world ought to work Yet do we really know that what theorists say they would do in practice is indeed what they would actually do Evaluation after all is situational Each context offers its own constituency set of values programmatic elements bureaucratic hurdles and other variables This volume demonstrates why evaluators need to adapt their point of view to a particular situation and provides much needed study and analysis on the way in which they make those adaptations This is the 106th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation
