Measuring Inclusive Education Chris Forlin, Tim Loreman, 2014-10-29 Volume 3 of International Perspectives on Inclusive Education focuses on measuring inclusive education from a range of perspectives. It is grounded upon a review of international conceptualizations of inclusive education and ways in which different systems are measuring its impact and effectiveness. Journal of Disability Policy Studies, 2010 Marion County Board of Education, Buena Vista, Georgia, Annual Financial Report for the Fiscal Year Ended ... (including Independent Auditor's Reports), 2008

Atlanta Independent School System, Atlanta, Georgia, Report on Audit of the Financial Statements for the Fiscal Year Ended ... ,2008 Tyranny of the Textbook Beverlee Jobrack, 2011-12-23 Educational reforms and standards have been a topic of public debate for decades with the latest go round being the State Common Core Curriculum Standards. But time and again those reforms have failed and each set of standards no matter how new and different has had little impact on improving student achievement. Why? The textbooks sell based on design and superficial features not because they are based on the latest research on how children learn and how well they promote student achievement. In Tyranny of the Textbook Beverlee Jobrack retired from educational publishing sheds light on why this happens. She gives an engaging and fascinating look behind the scenes of how K-12 textbooks are developed, written, adopted, and sold. And perhaps most importantly she clearly spells out how the system can change so that reforms and standards have a shot at finally being effective. Did you know? Reform efforts have focused on writing and rewriting standards and tests but these rarely have any effect on the core curriculum that is published. School districts and states don't use effectiveness as a criterion for evaluating and purchasing textbooks. Publishers don't offer textbooks with better content or the latest teaching methods because teachers don't want textbooks that require them to change their practices. Teachers report that they don't rely on a textbook in their class but research shows that they do. Three companies publish 75 percent of the K-12 educational materials. Those three companies are producing similar programs with the same instructional strategies, none of which require teachers to change their practices significantly. Publishers write textbooks for California and Texas. All of the other markets have to make do with books only superficially adjusted for their states.

Education Flashpoints Alan J. Singer, 2014-04-24 Drawing on his widely read Huffington Post columns rated one of the top educational blogs in the United States, Alan Singer introduces readers to contemporary issues in education in the United States. The issues are presented with a point of view and an edge intended to promote widespread classroom debate and discussion. Each section opens with a new topical summary essay followed by a series of brief essays updated and adapted from Huffington Post columns. The book includes guest contributions, guiding questions and responses to essays by teacher education students and teachers to further classroom discussion. Education Flashpoints is written in a conversational style that draws readers into a series of debates by presenting issues in a clear and concise manner but also with a touch of irony and a bit of rhetorical bite. The topics examined in these essays read
