Paper 3 (Creative Writing)

Section A: Essay

Narrative Essay:

- A narrative essay deals with a person/people and what happened to him/her/them/me/us.
- It is usually written in the past tense.
- The value of the essay increases if the story is interesting and captures the imagination with a surprising ending.
- Including a bit of humor sometimes makes the essay interesting, depending on the relevance of such a topic.
- If the story is interesting (coupled with applicable language), the value of the essay will be higher.
- Can descriptive elements appear in a narrative essay? Of course! It is the authentic and convincing elements of your story that count.

Descriptive essay:

- In a descriptive essay, you must describe something, for example, a person, place, situation, experience, emotion, or object.
- Observation plays an important role – whether you describe your emotions, nature, a person/people, or whatever else – how you put it in words is crucial.
- The creation of an appropriate atmosphere/mood increases the value of the essay. Try to use as many of the senses as possible in your description.
- Avoid deliberate, fancy/glamorous language – it is not convincing. Rather opt for simple language that carries meaning clearly.
- Authenticity and sincerity add a lot of value to a descriptive essay.
- The fresher/more precise the observation and the more secure/more effective the observation, the higher the value of the essay.

Argumentative essay:

- An argumentative essay is subjective and makes a case in favor of, or against, a specific point of view and maintains that view from the first paragraph until the last sentence.
- It's important to distinguish between argumentative and discursive essays because they are not the same.
- The aim is to convince the reader to agree with your opinion.
- Usually, statements are made on a preconceived point of view and motivations are provided to support the statements.
- It is usually written in the present tense.
- The language used can sometimes be more formal than in the case of a narrative essay, but this is not a prerequisite – it depends on the nature of the issue that is being argued.
- Facts usually play a more important role than in (for example) a descriptive essay.
- Never belittle or insult in an argumentative essay – respect for the dignity of the other side must at all times be maintained.
- The stronger the arguments and motivations (without exaggeration and over-emotionality), the stronger the essay will address the reader.

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

The Role of Working Memory and Executive Function in Communication under Adverse Conditions Mary Rudner, Carine Signoret, 2016-06-20 Communication is vital for social participation However communication often takes place under suboptimal conditions. This makes communication harder and less reliable, leading at worst to social isolation. In order to promote participation, it is necessary to understand the mechanisms underlying communication in different situations. Human communication is often speech based, either oral or written, but may also involve gesture, either accompanying speech or in the form of sign language. For communication to be achieved, a signal generated by one person has to be perceived by another person, attended to, comprehended, and responded to. This process may be hindered by adverse conditions, including factors that may be internal to the sender (e.g. incomplete or idiosyncratic language production) or occur during transmission (e.g. background noise or signal processing) or be internal to the receiver (e.g. poor grasp of the language or sensory impairment). The extent to which these factors interact to generate adverse conditions may differ across the lifespan. Recent work has shown that successful speech communication under adverse conditions is associated with good cognitive capacity, including efficient working memory and executive abilities such as updating and inhibition. Further, frontoparietal networks associated with working memory and executive function have been shown to be activated to a greater degree when it is harder to achieve speech comprehension. To date, less work has focused on sign language communication under adverse conditions or the role of gestures accompanying speech communication under adverse conditions. It has been proposed that the role of working memory in communication under such conditions is to keep fragments of an incomplete signal in mind, updating them as appropriate and inhibiting irrelevant information until an adequate match can be achieved with lexical and semantic representations held in long-term memory. Recent models of working memory highlight an episodic buffer whose role is the multimodal integration of information from the senses and long-term memory. It is likely that the episodic buffer plays a key role in communication under adverse conditions. The aim of this research topic is to draw together multiple perspectives on communication under adverse conditions, including empirical and theoretical approaches. This will facilitate a scientific exchange among individual scientists and groups studying different aspects of communication under adverse conditions and/or the role of cognition in communication. As such, this topic belongs firmly within the field of Cognitive Hearing Science. Exchange of ideas among scientists with different perspectives on these issues will allow researchers to identify and highlight the way in which different internal and external factors interact to make communication in different modalities more or less successful across the lifespan. Such exchange is the forerunner of broader dissemination of results, which ultimately may make it possible to take measures to reduce adverse conditions, thus facilitating communication. Such measures might be implemented in relation to the built environment, the design of hearing aids, and public awareness.

Challenges in Criminal Justice Ed Johnston, 2022-07-29. This collection examines contemporary challenges to the criminal justice system in England and Wales. The chapters, written by established academics, rising stars, and practising lawyers, seek not only to highlight these challenges but to offer solutions. The book examines issues with legal assistance in the police station, concerns relating to juror decision making, and problems in and presented by both virtual hearings and the advent of the Single Justice Procedure Notice The work also examines challenges surrounding vulnerability in the criminal justice system Here diversity includes vulnerability in the criminal trial neurodivergence as well as issues with diversity and marginalisation in the criminal justice system as a whole The book also discusses matters centred around sexual offending including the attrition rate in rape cases as well as the recent development of vigilante paedophile hunters and their acceptance as a viable limb of the criminal justice system Finally the volume looks at the post conviction stage and examines recent prison policy through the lens of the human rights of the prisoner The closing chapter examines the independence of the Criminal Cases Review Commission and highlights how recent changes have undermined this While focused on England and Wales the topics discussed are of wider international significance and will be of interest to students academics and policy makers Tambari ,2014 T.P.'s Weekly ,1909 The Literary Digest ,1913 The Fruit Grower and Farmer ,1916 Christian Union ,1874 The Fruit-grower ,1916 The College Board College Handbook 2000 College Board,College Board Staff,1999-08-31 With this guide and College Explorer CD ROM students can get in depth information about colleges including admission policies academic requirements application deadlines acceptance rates and many more details The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace,1969 The Standard California Codes California,1987 Guide to Microforms in Print ,1990 Editor & Publisher ,1940 Special features such as syndicate directories yearbook numbers annual newspaper lineage tabulations etc appear as separately paged sections of regular issues Black Newspapers Index ,2000
