various news texts images different information and representation of a phenomenon Hence we have to learn how to deal with texts and different representations in order to find out what is really going on in the world Luke stresses the point that one needs to learn to weigh up which of that information is trustworthy and even valuable The school is one of the places where students have the ability to learn especially this technique mentioned above Thus it is important for students to learn to question the received knowledge and to move beyond just accepting the text s message This is exactly what Critical Literacy demands and what students should be taught in English Language Teaching EFL allows us to talk about important topics in another language motivating students to communicate more in class and hopefully having an impact on students through engaging and appealing lessons that consider context and social dynamics One can now already see the importance of knowing about Critical Literacy at school when teaching EFL This is where this paper comes in by trying to relate this relevant topic of Critical Literacy to school practice by answering the specific question How can the beginning of a unit from the Camden Town textbook be adapted for high school students in terms of Critical Literacy

A Corpus-Based Analysis of Using Function Words in English Forensic Authorship Attribution Khalid Shakir Hussein, Eman Abdul Kareem, 2018-02-14 Case Study from the year 2017 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics language English abstract The advancement in computational linguistics and statistics has made an explicit impact on the emergence of corpus linguistics and the sophistication of its applications and studies involving not only pure linguistic issues but also areas related to real life problems One of these areas is authorship attribution studies Authorship attribution is a domain of a study concerned with identifying the most likely author of a particular anonymous or disputed document from a set of suspected authors To this end several methodologies techniques and approaches have been devised and so often assessed on various sets of data to make sure of their effectiveness Although the literature shows no consensus as to which methodology is the best among others there is an overwhelming fact that all authorship attribution studies are grounded on the assumption that each author has a particular linguistic fingerprint which can be captured through detecting and measuring the linguistic clues hidden in their authorial styles Taking an experimental framework this study is an attempt to gauge the discriminating and clustering power of the selected methodology against a particular type of data covering samples of political journal articles The corpus compiled is a special purpose one strictly controlled for genre register and date of publication It comprises eleven samples extracted from eleven articles with their lengths ranging between 1 101 to 1 113 words long three ones are taken as test hypothetically questioned samples and the rest as training samples The corpus represents the journalistic writings of four authors
