Rewilding in Practice Ian Convery, Steve Carver, Monica T. Engel, Sally Hawkins, Rene Beyers, Yue Cao, 2025-03-03. Rewilding is a long term and large scale process which works to restore degraded ecosystems or social ecological systems to the point that they are resilient and self sustaining and therefore requiring little in terms of conservation management. Rewilding practice focuses on re-establishing ecological processes including trophic levels that were lost mainly due to anthropogenic disturbance. It also aims to affect a paradigm shift in human nature relationships with intentions to better understand the interdependencies between humans and nature so that people can appreciate and accommodate nature in their landscapes and make more informed and sustainable decisions about how we live. In this sense, rewilding has real transformational potential.

Green Sustainable Agriculture and Farming Practices Pedro Aguilar-Zárate, Mónica L. Chávez-González, Leonardo Sepúlveda Torre, Ann Rose Abraham, A. K. Haghi, 2025-10-14. This new volume covers conceptual frameworks for understanding the functional construct of agro food innovation and farming. It presents a selection of topics on regenerative agriculture and farming that lead to practices that can be useful on both organic and conventional farms. The volume first looks at ecotechnologies in the agrifood industry such as the production of bacterial metabolites against phytopathogenic fungi as an alternative in food preservation, how food affects gut microbiota, the role of probiotic rhizobacteria in agriculture and nanocellulose based composites in the food industry. The authors also explore eco technologies for water reuse in agricultural irrigation, eco friendly farming practices to ensure sustainability and ways to limit agricultural soil and air pollution in farming systems.

Sustainable Energy in Kazakhstan Yelena Kalyuzhnova, Richard Pomfret, 2017-07-06. Kazakhstan is rich in natural resources including coal, oil, natural gas and uranium and has significant renewable potential from wind, solar, hydro and biomass. In spite of this, the country is currently dependent upon fossil fuels with coal fired plants accounting for 75% of total power generation, leading to concerns over greenhouse gas emissions and impacts on human health and the environment. This book analyses the implications of the global shift to cleaner energy for a country whose economy has centred on hydrocarbon exports. The challenge is urgent for Kazakhstan whose recent economic growth has driven increased demand for energy services, making the construction of additional generating capacity increasingly necessary for enabling sustained growth. In this context, renewable energy resources are becoming an increasingly attractive option to help bridge the demand supply gap Chapters written by experts in the field provide a comprehensive review of the current energy situation in Kazakhstan including fossil energy and renewable resources and analyses policy drivers for the energy sector Emphasising that clean energy covers a variety of renewables as well as cleaner use of hydrocarbons this book argues that future technological change will affect the relative attractiveness of the various choices Recognising technical geographical and domestic and international political constraints on policymakers options this book will be of interest to an interdisciplinary audience in the fields of resource management and clean energy development economics and Central Asian Studies Climate Change, Variability and Sustainable Food Systems Victor Owusu, Bright Asante, Emmanuel Donkor, Abiodun Ogundeji, Enoch Owusu-Sekyere, 2023-02-16
