Exemplar Life Science Grade 12 2014:

Resources in Education, 1989 Collecting for the Curriculum Amy J. Catalano, 2015-09-28 If you're a librarian charged with collecting curriculum materials and children's literature to support the Common Core State Standards then this book is the only one that offers explicit advice on collection development in curriculum collections for you. While there are many publications on the Common Core for school librarians and K-12 educators, no such literature exists for curriculum librarians at the postsecondary level. This book fills that gap, standing alone as a guide to collection development for curriculum librarians independent of the Common Core State Standards (CCSS). The book provides instruction and guidance to curriculum librarians who acquire and manage collections so you can develop a collection based on best practices. The book begins with a primer on the CCSS and how curriculum librarians can support them. Discussion of the Standards is then woven through chapters arranged by content area that share research-based practices in curriculum development and instruction to guide you in curriculum selection. Material types covered include games, textbooks, children's literature, primary sources, counseling, and nonfiction. Additional chapters cover the management of curriculum collections, testing collections, and instruction and reference, as well as how to support and collect for special needs learners. Current practices in collection development for curriculum materials librarians are also reviewed. The book closes with a discussion of the future of curriculum materials.

Connecting People to Their Oceans: Issues and Options for Effective Ocean Literacy Angel Borja, Francesca Santoro, Gail Scowcroft, Stephen Fletcher, Pierre Strosser, 2020-03-25 While there is growing evidence of the importance of marine ecosystems for our societies, evidence shows also that pressures from human activities on these ecosystems are increasing, putting the health of marine ecosystems at stake worldwide. Hence, Blue Economy is becoming an important component of future socio-economic development strategies, e.g., this is called Blue Growth in Europe that eventually can result in increasing pressures at sea and, despite the current regulatory framework in particular with the Oceans Act in USA or Canada and the Marine Strategy Framework Directive in Europe, it is likely that this situation will continue in the future. Ensuring all those connected to the sea directly or indirectly gain a better understanding of the importance of the seas, the human-sea interactions and opportunities to act better and reduce impacts from human pressures is central to Ocean Literacy (OL). Receiving increasing attention in Europe and USA, OL is a challenge for all parts of society: educators, 2) the role OL could play in interaction with innovation, regulation, economic incentive, social norms to support human capital development as key component of sustainable growth and 3) pre-conditions for effective OL for different sectors and target groups. Questions relevant to OL include: Which knowledge produced by whom to share and how? Who to target and how to effectively reach those targeted? How to design OL initiatives including by mobilizing those targeted via living lab approaches, e.g., to ensure effective OL and pave the way for behavior change? What are the knowledge gaps that limit our capacity to design effective OL? As scientists, it is likely you have many more questions to offer and discuss.

Trust-Based Observations Craig Randall, 2020-07-30 The results are in observations are not improving teaching and learning. Pertinently the Gates Foundation's recently completed effort to improve student outcomes through enhancing the teacher evaluation process failed to achieve substantive improvement. The way observations are currently designed serve as an obstacle to teacher risk taking. Teachers fear negative evaluations when their pedagogy is rated and they lack faith in being supported by supervisors because a trusting relationship between them and their observer has not been built. Trust Based Observations Maximizing Teaching and Learning Growth is a schema changing evaluation model that understands people perform at their best when they feel safe and supported. It begins with twelve 20 minute observations per week followed by collegial conversations driven by reflective questions sharing observed teaching strengths and the building of safe and trusting relationships with teachers. Add the elimination of rating pedagogical skills and replace it with rating mindset and teachers trust. When teachers fully embrace risk taking and innovation it leads to remarkable teaching transformations and improved student learning.
