Learning and Not Learning in the Heritage Language Classroom Kimberly Adilia Helmer, 2020-02-13 Learning and Not Learning in the Heritage Language Classroom a critical ethnography describes the first year of a teacher founded charter high school and presents a case study of compulsory Spanish heritage language instruction with two Spanish language teachers one English dominant and the other Spanish dominant The study follows the same cohort of Mexican origin students to their humanities English class bringing into focus what works and what does not with this group of learners Unlike many Spanish heritage language studies the students in this book did not choose to take part in Spanish class and thus provide unusually raw feedback on their teachers and classes The engagement and resistance of these students suggests pedagogical directions for engaging Spanish heritage language learners The book will be of interest to scholars administrators students and teachers involved in the delivery and assessment of heritage language classes A Practical Introduction to Survey Design Haydn Aarons, 2020-12-02 This is your definitive guide to designing your social survey It includes all the knowledge and skills you need to plan your survey with confidence and ease Every step of survey design from developing your questions to administering your survey and preparing your data for analysis is explained in easy to follow language It features Case studies demonstrating how effective surveys are conducted in real life Clear advice on how to design an ethical social survey Practical exercises to help you construct your survey Suggestions for further reading taken from cutting edge multidisciplinary sources The book also comes with a host of useful online resources including templates and reflective questions to help strengthen your understanding and apply your new found knowledge Civilization ,1998 The magazine of the Library of Congress TV Guide ,2004 The Video Librarian ,1998 Human Nature Stephen Gislason, 2017-07-05 Preface Being a human is challenging Human life is a journey thorough time and space with many obstacles injury disease constant uncertainty and relentlessly difficult interactions with other humans Each human is the reincarnation of a long lineage of ancestors Species memory perceptual skills needs drives feelings desires and behaviors are built in and begin operating in utero Humans evolved from primate ancestors and retained features of mind and behavior that have been present in animals for hundreds of millions of years Urges desires designs feelings cry out from within and often surprise us as if we were the hosts to wild animals and spirits within that refuse to be identified or tamed Human behavior can be understood in relation to the whole spectrum of primate behaviors and social organizations Humans appear to have an eclectic combination of primate tendencies with elaboration of features such as tool making symbolic reasoning and spoken language Linda Stone suggested that Primates are a natural grouping of mammals that includes prosimians tree dwelling animals such as lemurs and tarsiers monkeys apes and humans Some of the physical characteristics that distinguish primates from other mammals are binocular vision and the grasping hand with mobile digits and flat nails Evolutionary trends characteristic of the Primate Order are most pronounced in humans and include prolongation of gestation of the fetus

prolongation of the period of infant care and expansion and elaboration of the brain An important feature in the social life of many nonhuman primates is dominance and the formation of dominance hierarchies a dominant animal wins aggressive encounters with others and usually has greater access to resources such as food water or sexual partners Rather than viewing society and culture as real things an observer can recognize that humans live in groups that repeat and modify innate behaviors to produce prolific variations on a few underlying themes that are common to all societies A smart observer will consider the grouping characteristics of humans and discern basic patterns and problems underlying the apparent complexity of modern civilization The organization of society begins with small local clusters that link family groups into clans that are more or less cooperative units Clans associate forming bands that tend to affiliate with other bands forming tribes looser affiliations that occupy larger geographic areas The band tribal structure emerges from ancient animal groupings Patterns of organization rules and institutions that regulate human behavior are in flux and will continue to be unstable As human populations expand and interactions become increasingly complex innate abilities are stretched and distorted The ability of individuals to relate to other humans remains limited and limits the effective management of enlarging groups Managers and leaders do not become smarter as the organizations they lead become larger It is axiomatic that organizations that exceed a threshold number become dysfunctional It is matter of empirical study to recognize group size thresholds and too little is known about the cognitive limitations of leaders
