Managing Information in Complex Organizations Kevin C. Desouza, Tobin Hensgen, 2015-04-08 This seminal work presents an effective design for processing information through five stages from data to actionable knowledge in order to influence behavior within organizations The authors incorporate such concepts as evolution semiotics entropy complexity emergence crisis and chaos theory in an intriguing alternative to crisis management that can be applied to any organization Their model shows how to evaluate and share information to enable the organization to avoid disaster rather than simply respond to it Additionally the text presents the first attempt at a multi disciplinary view of information processing in organizations by tying associated disciplines to their respective impacts on the information process Illustrations used in the text include an overlay that demonstrates how the non use of information between agencies contributed to the 9 11 disaster and an appendix addresses Organizing for Cyberterrorism

Strategies of Arms Control Stuart Croft, 1996 In this groundbreaking analysis Stuart Croft brings the subject of arms control into the era of complex multi polar international relations He moves beyond the narrow definitions of the phenomenon associated with the Cold War to show how it not only has a long past but also a clear future The author begins by tracing the history of agreements between polities over weapons back to ancient times An understanding of this history allows him to put forward a typology of arms control It occurs at the end of major conflicts stabilises balances between states develops norms of behaviour manages weapons proliferation and acts as a tool of international organisations Stuart Croft examines the evolution of these five qualitatively different strategies and applies the typology to arms control agreements in the post Cold War world This definitive new study will be of interest to students in international relations and security studies as well as specialists in these disciplines
