

Chapter 1 Lecture Notes

What is managerial accounting??

It involves...

- partnering in management decision making
- Devising planning and performance management systems
- Providing expertise in financial reporting and control

Managers 3 Primary responsibilities:

- Planning: setting goals and objectives and how to achieve them
- Overseeing: the company's day-to-day operations
- Controlling: evaluating the results of business operations and making adjustments as needed

Managerial vs. Financial Accounting

MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING	ISSUE	FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING
Internal users such as managers.	Who are the primary users of the information?	External users, such as creditors, stockholders, and government regulators.
To help managers plan, direct, and control business operations and make business decisions.	What is the purpose of the information?	To help external users make investing and lending decisions.
Any internal accounting report deemed worthwhile by management.	What is the primary accounting method?	Financial statements.
Management determines what is reported in a report, and how it wants it formatted. Reports are prepared only when management believes the benefit of using the report exceeds the cost of preparing the report.	What should be included in the report, and how much is to be formatted?	Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) determine the content and format of financial statements.
While some information is based on past transactions, managerial accounting focuses on the future. It provides information on both external and internal transactions.	What is the underlying basis of the information?	The information is based on historical transactions with external partners.
The information must be relevant.	What information characteristics is emphasized?	The information must be reliable and objective.
Segments of the business, such as products, customers, geographical regions, departments, and divisions.	What business "unit" is the report about?	The components are a whole interconnected financial statement. Detailed financial data is provided in the footnotes.
It depends on management's needs. Some reports are prepared daily, while others may be prepared only one time.	How often are the reports prepared?	Annually and quarterly.
There are no independent audits. However, the company's internal audit function may evaluate the procedures used in preparing the reports.	Does anyone verify the information?	Independent certified public accountants (CPAs) audit the annual financial statements of publicly traded companies and review and comment on the relevance of the financial information given.
