Speaking Truths Valerie Chepp, 2022-02-11 The twenty first century is already riddled with protests demanding social justice and in every instance, young people are leading the charge. But in addition to protesters who take to the streets with handmade placards, are young adults who engage in less obvious change making tactics. In Speaking Truths, sociologist Valerie Chepp goes behind the scenes to uncover how spoken word poetry and young people's participation in it contributes to a broader understanding of contemporary social justice activism, including this generation's attention to the political importance of identity, well being, and love. Drawing upon detailed observations and in depth interviews, Chepp tells the story of a diverse group of young adults from Washington D.C. who use spoken word to create a more just and equitable world. Outlining the contours of this approach, she interrogates spoken word activism's emphasis on personal storytelling and truth, the strategic uses of aesthetics and emotions to politically engage across difference, and the significance of healing in sustainable movements for change. Weaving together their poetry and personally told stories, Chepp shows how poets tap into the beautiful, emotional, personal, and therapeutic features of spoken word to empathically connect with others, advance intersectional and systemic analyses of inequality, and make social justice messages relatable across a diverse public. By creating allies and forging connections based on friendship, professional commitments, lived experiences, emotions, artistic kinship, and political views, this activist approach is highly integrated into the everyday lives of its practitioners, online and face to face. Chepp argues that spoken word activism is a product of and a call to action against the neoliberal era in which poets have come of age, characterized by widening structural inequalities and increasing economic and social vulnerability. She illustrates how this deeply personal and intimate activist approach borrows from, builds upon, and diverges from previous social movement paradigms. Spotlighting the complexity and mutual influence of modern day activism and the world in which it unfolds, Speaking Truths contributes to our understanding of contemporary social change making and how neoliberalism has shaped this political generation's experiences with social injustice.

Diane R. Scott, 2024-12-27 Holistically addressing the documented needs of practicing artists this book applies contemporary business management principles to the unique circumstances of people who make their living through creative expression. Artists looking to forge a career have had to turn to either entrepreneurship resources or professional practice tools specific to a discipline such as studio arts or theatre but the business school entrepreneurial approach conflicts with the way artists make work and the unique structures of the artist environment while the professional practice focus neglects the necessary business theory and the wide range of ways artists create viable careers. For the first time this book provides a comprehensive theoretical and practical foundation for understanding how artists create practices that endure. Employing a strategic management framework the book spells out prevailing business strategies in marketing, finance, human resources and the legal environment from an arts specific and artist friendly point of view. In a world of perpetually changing communication, distribution and technology it also offers a lasting framework and understanding of the broader arts economy while highlighting contemporary tools and tactics to implement the theories in individual practices. Practicing artists and students preparing for a career in any of the arts disciplines will welcome the artist's perspective and the many examples from the lives of working artists in a variety of endeavors while instructors in arts management administration and entrepreneurship will appreciate this comprehensive text with research based pedagogy addressing their needs.
