Students Charles Moore,2014 Educators are seeking ways to improve student academic achievement in math and to increase math standardized test scores because of the requirements of the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act known as the No Child Left Behind Act NCLB Individuals with Disabilities Education Act IDEA and Race to the Top initiative RTTT One such intervention in middle school is a direct instruction math program This causal comparative study examined the relationship between a direct instruction math intervention and math achievement on standardized test scores of at risk middle school students This study compared the differences in the mean scale scores for at risk middle school students who received a direct instruction math intervention and at risk middle school students who did not receive a direct instruction math intervention on the math subtest of the 2012 Georgia Criterion Referenced Competency Test while using the 2011 scores as a control variable to control for previous math ability using a one way between groups analysis of covariate ANCOVA statistical test Further this study compared the relationship by gender between a direct instruction math intervention and math achievement on standardized test scores The data from the study suggests that the direct instruction mathematic intervention did result in the intervention group having a significantly higher mean scale score on the 2012 mathematic subtest of the Georgia CRCT than the control group for both genders

Effects of Departmentalized Versus

Traditional Settings on Fifth Graders' Math and Reading Achievement Connie B Yearwood,2011 The purpose of this quantitative study was to determine whether fifth grade students who received instruction in a departmentalized setting achieved higher mean scale scores on the reading and math sections of the Georgia Criterion Referenced Competency Test CRCT than students who were taught in a traditional setting Two one way between groups analyses of covariance were conducted to control for previous achievement while seeking to determine if a statistically significant difference existed in the mean reading and math scale scores of fifth grade students who were taught in different organizational structures The findings suggest that students who received instruction in departmentalized settings scored higher on the reading and math portions of the 2010 CRCT
