The first Gulf War was a monumental turning point in the war time employment of aerospace power. Ever since significance of aerospace power in war crisis and peace time has been gaining ascendancy. Kosovo and Libya are the two pertinent examples of the allies virtually relying on aerospace power without committing any soldiers on the ground. Scrutiny of the emerging global and national trends suggests that employment of the aerospace assets as well as nation's expectation from the IAF will continue to rise. Alongside there is an unplanned fall in flying platforms, weapon systems and pilot strength of the IAF. This study is an attempt to analyse the history of the IAF in war as well as other than war operations to appreciate the emerging trends in geopolitics, aerospace technology and doctrine and to identify the likely challenges IAF would be facing in the next two decades and beyond.
