There is a big difference between assigning complex texts and teaching complex texts. Doug Fisher, Nancy Frey, and Diane Lapp. And that's the crux, isn't it? That's why in this brand new edition of the bestselling Text Complexity, the renowned author team provides four new chapters that lay open the instructional routines that take students to new places as readers. No matter what discipline you teach, you will learn how to craft purposeful instruction pitched to your readers' comprehension capacities, your curriculum's themes, and your own assessments on what students need next. Doug, Nancy, and Diane provide how to's for measuring word and sentence length and other countable features of any written work while giving ample consideration to the readers in your room and how their background knowledge, experiences, and motivations come into play. A rubric for analyzing literary texts for plot, structure, point of view, imagery, clarity, and more, and a complexity scale for analyzing informational texts that describe, inform, and explain. Classroom scenarios of teachers and students engaging with fiction and nonfiction texts that provide enough of a stretch so you'll know the difference between a healthy struggle and frustration. The authors' latest thinking on routines that invite students to interact with complex texts and with one another, including teacher modeling, close reading, scaffolded small group reading, and independent reading. It's time to see text complexity as a dynamic, powerful tool for sliding the right text in front of our students at just the right time. Think of this second edition as Text Complexity 2.0 because it's all about the movement of minds at work, going deeper than anyone ever thought possible. Focus on Life Science Reading and Note Taking Guide Level A California Edition, 2007-03-30.
