Participation Maarten van Rooij,Annamaria Lusardi,Rob Alessie,2007 Individuals are increasingly put in charge of their financial security after retirement Moreover the supply of complex financial products has increased considerably over the years However we still have little or no information about whether individuals have the financial knowledge and skills to navigate this new financial environment To better understand financial literacy and its relation to financial decision making we have devised two special modules for the DNB Household Survey We have designed questions to measure numeracy and basic knowledge related to the working of inflation and interest rates as well as questions to measure more advanced financial knowledge related to financial market instruments stocks bonds and mutual funds We evaluate the importance of financial literacy by studying its relation to the stock market Are more financially knowledgeable individuals more likely to hold stocks To assess the direction of causality we make use of questions measuring financial knowledge before investing in the stock market We find that while the understanding of basic economic concepts related to inflation and interest rate compounding is far from perfect it outperforms the limited knowledge of stocks and bonds the concept of risk diversification and the working of financial markets We also find that the measurement of financial literacy is very sensitive to the wording of survey questions This provides additional evidence for limited financial knowledge Finally we report evidence of an independent effect of financial literacy on stock market participation Those who have low financial literacy are significantly less likely to invest in stocks      Innovations in Learning and Technology for the Workplace and Higher Education David Guralnick,Michael E. Auer,Antonella Poce,2021-11-12 This book covers the topics such as online learning methodologies case studies new technologies in learning such as virtual reality augmented reality holograms and artificial intelligence adaptive learning and project based learning New technologies provide us with new opportunities to create new learning experiences leveraging research from a variety of disciplines along with imagination and creativity The Learning Ideas Conference was created to bring researchers practitioners and others together to discuss innovate and create The Learning Ideas Conference 2021 was the 14th annual conference and the first under its new name following on its predecessors the International Conference on E Learning in the Workplace and the International Conference on Interactive Collaborative and Blended Learning The conference was held online from June 14 18 2021 and included two special tracks The ALICE Adaptive Learning via Interactive Collaborative and Emotional Approaches Special Track and a track entitled Building a University of Tomorrow from the Xi an Jiaotong Liverpool University XJTLU in China The papers included in this book may be of interest to researchers in pedagogy and learning theory university faculty members and administrators learning and development specialists user experience designers and others      Enterprising Women Mary Hallward-Driemeier, 2013-06-10 This book brings together new household and enterprise data from 41 countries in Sub Saharan Africa to inform policy makers and practitioners on ways to expand women entrepreneurs economic opportunities Sub Saharan Africa boasts the highest share of women entrepreneurs but they are disproportionately concentrated among the self employed rather than employers Relative to men women are pursuing lower opportunity activities with their enterprises more likely to be smaller informal and in low value added lines of business The challenge in expanding opportunities is not helping more women become entrepreneurs but enabling them to shift to higher return activities A central question addressed in the book is what explains the gender sorting in the types of enterprises that women and men run The analysis shows that many Sub Saharan countries present a challenging environment for women Four key areas of the agenda for expanding women s economic opportunities in Africa are analyzed strengthening women s property rights and their ability to control assets improving women s access to finance building human capital in business skills and networks and strengthening women s voices in business environment reform These areas are important both because they have wide gender gaps and because they help explain gender differences in entrepreneurial activities It is particularly striking that while gender gaps in education tend to close with higher incomes gaps in women s property rights and in women s participation in reform processes do not As simply raising a country s income is unlikely to be sufficient to give women equal ability to control assets or have greater voice more proactive steps will be needed Practical guidelines to move the agenda forward are discussed for each of these key areas

International Practices to Promote Budget Literacy Harika Masud, Helene Pfeil, Sanjay Agarwal, Alfredo Gonzalez Briseno, 2017-08-09 Budget literacy is defined as the ability to read decipher and understand public budgets to enable and enhance meaningful citizen participation in the budget process It is comprised of two main parts i a technical understanding of public budgets including familiarity with government spending tax rates and public debt and ii the ability to engage in the budget process comprising of practical knowledge on day to day issues as well as an elementary understanding of the economic social and political implications of budget policies the stakeholders involved and when and how to provide inputs during the annual budget cycle Given that no international standards or guidelines have been established for budget literacy education to date this book seeks to address this gap by taking stock of illustrative initiatives promoting budget literacy for youth in selected countries The underlying presumption is that when supply side actors in the budget process governments simplify and disseminate budget information for demand side actors citizens this information will then be used by citizens to provide feedback on the budget However since citizens are often insufficiently informed about public budgets to constructively participate in budget processes one way to empower them and to remedy the problem of budget illiteracy is to provide budget literacy education in schools to youth helping them evolve into civic minded adults with the essential knowledge needed for analyzing their government s fiscal policy objectives and measures and the confidence and sense of

Mitchell,2006 We compare wealth holdings across two cohorts of the Health and Retirement Study the early Baby Boomers in 2004 and individuals in the same age group in 1992 Levels and patterns of total net worth have changed relatively little over time though Boomers rely more on housing equity than their predecessors Most important planners in both cohorts arrive close to retirement with much higher wealth levels and display higher financial literacy than non planners Instrumental variables estimates show that planning behavior can explain the differences in savings and why some people arrive close to retirement with very little or no wealth Abstract Proceedings of the Galaxy II Conference ,2004 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2002-04
