Innovative Materials for Construction Mariaenrica Frigione, José Barroso de Aguiar, 2021-05-05 Most of the typical materials employed in today's constructions present limitations especially concerning their durability in either common or severe environmental conditions and their impact on the environment In response to these issues academic and industrial efforts around the world have been devoted to developing new smart materials that can provide efficient alternatives improve the energy efficiency of buildings or can upgrade repair or protect existing infrastructures Different and wide technological innovations are therefore quickly fostering advancements in the field of construction materials A new generation of materials bricks cement coatings concrete FRP glass masonry mortars nano materials PCM polymers steel wood etc is gaining a prominent position in modern building technology since they can overcome various limits and flaws of conventional materials employed in constructions without neglecting the smart applications of pioneering materials in ancient constructions and historic buildings Even though the adoption of innovative materials in the construction field has been a successful route in achieving enhanced performance or even new and unexpected characteristics some issues have not been completely solved On top of them the cost performance ratio of novel solutions since their introduction must be convenient without compromising quality Other concerns are related to their sustainability with eco friendly options possibly exploiting recycled materials or by products from other productions being the most desirable solution Finally the use of materials or systems that are unconventional in this field raises the need to update or develop new specifications and standards This special issue aims at providing a platform for discussing open issues challenges and achievements related to innovative materials proposed for the construction industry

Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching Christopher Kloppe, Steve Drew, 2015-10-30 Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching focuses on the emerging global governmental and institutional agenda about higher education teaching quality and the role that peer review can play in supporting improvements in teaching and student outcomes This agenda is a pervasive element of the further development of higher education internationally through activities of governments global agencies institutions of higher education discrete disciplines and individual teachers Many universities have adopted student evaluations as a mechanism to appraise the quality of teaching These evaluations can be understood as providing a customer centric portrait of quality and when used as the sole arbiter of teaching performance they do not instil confidence in the system of evaluation by academic teaching staff Providing peer perspectives as counterpoint whether in a developmental or summative form goes some way to alleviating this imbalance and is the impetus for the resurgence of interest in peer review and observation of teaching This book seeks to recognise cases of peer review of teaching in Higher Education to affirm best practices and identify areas that require improvement in establishing local national and international benchmarks of teaching quality

Applying Dialogic Pedagogy Cynthia Z. Cohen, 2018-08-15 Recent academic research criticizes the effectiveness of traditional lecturing methods and instead shows the pedagogical effectiveness of active learning methods especially discussion based education Drawing on the dialogic writings of Bakhtin Freire and Habermas this study reviews the five primary themes cited in active learning research improvements in student concentration socialization in disciplinary norms scaffolding towards higher critical thinking inclusion of non traditional learning styles and reduction of student absenteeism Testing these findings in a discussion based undergraduate college education classroom this study finds significant improvements towards higher critical thinking skills increased student concentration and reduced student absenteeism However the study finds questionable effectiveness of discussion based teaching for socializing undergraduate college education students in disciplinary norms
