The Oxford Handbook of the Ethiopian Economy Fantu Cheru,Christopher

Cramer,Arkebe Oqubay,2019-01-10 From a war torn and famine plagued country at the beginning of the 1990s Ethiopia is today emerging as one of the fastest growing economies in Africa Growth in Ethiopia has surpassed that of every other sub Saharan country over the past decade and is forecast by the International Monetary Fund to exceed 8 percent over the next two years The government has set its eyes on transforming the country into a middle income country by 2025 and into a leading manufacturing hub in Africa The Oxford Handbook of the Ethiopian Economy studies this country s unique model of development where the state plays a central role and where a successful industrialization drive has challenged the long held erroneous assumption that industrial policy will never work in poor African countries While much of the volume is focused on post 1991 economic development policy and strategy the analysis is set against the background of the long history of Ethiopia and more specifically on the Imperial period that ended in 1974 the socialist development experiment of the Derg regime between 1974 and 1991 and the policies and strategies of the current EPRDF government that assumed power in 1991 Including a range of contributions from both academic and professional standpoints this volume is a key reference work on the economy of Ethiopia

Households' Food Insecurity and Coping Strategies in the Face of Vulnerability

Mesay Kebede Duguma,2015 This book draws attention to the livelihood and food security situation of women farmers a topic largely neglected by academic studies. It elucidates in a detailed empirical examination the impact of informal social institutions on food security and coping strategies of these households in the Meskan district of southern Ethiopia. The area is environmentally and socially challenged. The results develop an understanding of the gender dimension of food in security and present important implications for public policy. Series: Spectrum Berlin Series on Society, Economy and Politics in Developing Countries. Spektrum Berliner Reihe zu Gesellschaft, Wirtschaft und Politik in Entwicklungsländern. Vol 110. Subject: Sociology, African Studies, Women's Studies, Gender Studies, Agricultural Studies. Economic Development under Climate Change Amsalu Woldie, Yalew, 2020-02-25. Amsalu Woldie, Yalew attempts to address the direct and indirect economic effects of climate change adaptation costs and adaptation finance in developing countries with emphasis to Ethiopia using a static computable general equilibrium (CGE) model coupled with a regional module. The results show that the economy wide effects of climate change are profound. Planned public adaptation that aims to fully neutralize climate change induced agricultural productivity shocks may help to avert the aggregate effects but with residual effects. The results also indicate that structural change underpins climate resilient development as it contributes to dampen the adverse consequences of climate change on aggregate GDP and households welfare. Ethiopian Journal of Education, 2014.

Agriculture and Rural Development in a Globalizing World Prabhu Pingali, Gershon Feder, 2017-05-08. Rapid structural transformation and urbanization are transforming agriculture and food production in rural areas across the world. This textbook provides a comprehensive review and assessment of the multi faceted nature of agriculture and rural development particularly in the developing world where the greatest challenges occur. It is designed around five thematic parts: Agricultural Intensification and Technical Change, Political Economy of Agricultural Policies, Community and Rural Institutions, Agriculture, Nutrition and Health, and Future Relevance of International Institutions. Each chapter presents a detailed but accessible review of the literature on the specific topic and discusses the frontiers in research and institutional changes needed as societies adapt to the transformation processes. All authors are eminent scholars with international reputations who have been actively engaged in the contemporary debates around agricultural development and rural transformation.

The short-term impact of COVID-19 on Ethiopia's economy through external sector channels: An economywide multiplier model analysis Aragie, Emerta, Taffesse, Alemayehu, Seyoum, Tamru, Seneshaw, 2020-12-09. The COVID 19 pandemic is expected to considerably affect the Ethiopian economy directly and indirectly due to global shocks and to the different restrictive preventative measures the country is taking. We analyze these economic effects using multisector economywide income multiplier models built on the two latest Social Accounting Matrices (SAMs) developed for Ethiopia. Three external sector channels are the focus of the analysis: commodity exports, strategic imports, and remittances. Results indicate that in the absence of any policy responses the Ethiopian economy is expected to experience a loss of approximately 4.3 to 5.5 percent of its annual GDP due to exports, strategic imports, and remittances that are one third lower.

relative to the no COVID situation over a period of six months This translates into estimated reductions in labor income of between 4.2 and 5.2 percent The SAM multiplier model estimates also imply that these negative shocks lead to household income losses that amount to between 3.9 and 6.4 percent In particular the urban poor will be the most affected as they lose real incomes in the range of 6.6 to 8.5 percent These income losses are estimated to result in a 3.5 percentage point rise in the national poverty headcount Southernizing Sociolinguistics Bassey E.
