

- For circuits with refrigerant injection for additional cooling and / or for greater system volume: Direct monitoring by means of an oil level monitor in the oil separator (optional accessory) is recommended.

3. Lubricants

Apart from the lubrication it is also the task of the oil to provide dynamic sealing of the rotors. Special demands result from this with regard to viscosity, solubility and foaming characteristics. Copeland approved oils may the rotors be used only.

Important instructions:

- Observe the application limits of the compressor.
- The lower limit value of the discharge gas temperature (140°F) is a reference value only. It must be ensured by sufficient suction super-head that the discharge gas temperature is at least 54°F (R134a, R404a, R507a and 36°F) above the condensing temperature.
- Estor oils (Solest 1710 (for HFC refrigerants) and CP4314-320 (for R22) are very hydroscopic. Special care is therefore required when dehydrating the system and when handling open oil containers.
- A corrected design may be necessary for direct expansion evaporators with flamed tubes on the refrigerant side (consultation with manufacturer).

The above information corresponds to the present state of our knowledge and is intended as a guide for general applications. This information does not have the purpose of confirming certain oil characteristics or their suitability for a particular case.

4. Integration into the refrigeration circuit

Compact screw compressors are well suited for integration in factory-assembled plants (liquid chillers and air conditioning units). Their use in extended systems is also possible, for example, with remote condenser.

Systems with multiple compressors should preferably be designed with individual circuits. Parallel compound is possible, but requires a special oil equalizing system by means of oil level control.

Mounting and oil separation

4.1 Mounting the compressor

With stationary systems the compressor has to be installed horizontally.

In case of mobile application, mounting in direction of the longitudinal axis of the boat may be required. Detailed layout recommendation can be provided upon request.

Anti-vibration mountings:

Rigid mounting of the compressor is possible. The use of anti-vibration mountings especially matched to the compressor is recommended, however, to reduce the transmission of body radiated noise.

With direct mounting on water-cooled condensers:

CAUTIONS

Do not mount the compressor directly on the condenser. Do not use the condenser structured number! Damage of the condenser is possible (fatigue fractures). Use anti-vibration mountings!

The installation of the anti-vibration mountings is shown in figure 5. The bolts should only be tightened until slight deformation of the upper rubber block is just visible.
