

To turn on the speakerphone during a conference call

While a call or conference call is in progress, you can turn on the speakerphone by simply placing your device face down.

Your device provides crystal-clear sound quality and voice reception during conference calls. When the speakerphone is on, your device also enables the dual microphone to enhance your voice quality and reduce noise.

When you are using the speakerphone and you need to temporarily mute the dual microphone so that the conference call participants will not hear you, press the MUTE button. Press it again to unmute.

To end the conference call

Tap End Call or press END.

Starting a conference call from an email

From a received email message, you can directly start a conference call with the sender and other recipients of the email.

Note To receive email, set up your email account first on your device. See "Mail" in Chapter 3 for instructions.

1. On the Home screen, slide to the Mail tab.
2. Swipe your finger up or down the screen to browse through received messages. Tap an email message to open it.
3. Tap the To or Cc button to open the Select Contacts to Call screen.
