Young People and Active Citizenship in Post-Soviet Times Beata Krzywosz-Rynkiewicz, Anna Zalewska, Kerry J. Kennedy, 2017-08-10. Situated within the context of post soviet times, this book explores young people's citizenship activities and values in three distinct environments: post soviet union countries, post soviet union satellites and countries that were independent of the soviet union. Its purpose is to investigate the influence of these contexts on the ways young people see their citizenship in what are now emerging democracies. The future of nations depends to a large extent on whether citizens will continue to support existing values and will engage in activities to support those values. Using a framework designed by Kennedy (2006) and further developed by Zalewska, Krzywosz, Rynkiewicz (2011), the study examined the citizenship values of 3794 students aged 11-14-18 from 11 European countries. The main themes of this book include exploring similarities and differences in citizenship activities within countries and across countries, advancing explanations for these similarities and differences, highlighting the importance of contexts that influence citizenship activities and values, and assessing the extent to which democratic values are reflected in young people's citizenship activities.

An outbreak of a respiratory disease first reported in Wuhan, China, in December 2019, and the causative agent was discovered in January 2020 to be a novel betacoronavirus of the same subgenus as SARS-CoV and named severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2). Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) has rapidly disseminated worldwide with clinical manifestations ranging from mild respiratory symptoms to severe pneumonia and a fatality rate estimated around 2%. Person-to-person transmission is occurring both in the community and healthcare settings. The World Health Organization (WHO) has recently declared the COVID-19 epidemic a public health emergency of international concern. The ongoing outbreak presents many clinical and public health management challenges due to limited understanding of viral pathogenesis, risk factors for infection, natural history of disease, including clinical presentation and outcomes, prognostic factors for severe illness, period of infectivity, modes and extent of virus inter-human transmission, as well as effective preventive measures and public health response and containment interventions. There are no antiviral treatment nor vaccine available but fast track research and development efforts including clinical therapeutic trials are ongoing across the world Managing this serious epidemic requires the appropriate deployment of limited human resources across all cadres of health care and public health staff including clinical laboratory managerial and epidemiological data analysis and risk assessment experts It presents challenges around public communication and messaging around risk with the potential for misinformation and disinformation Therefore integrated operational research and intervention learning from experiences across different fields and settings should contribute towards better understanding and managing COVID 19 This Research Topic aims to highlight interdisciplinary research approaches deployed during the COVID 19 epidemic addressing knowledge gaps and generating evidence for its improved management and control It will incorporate critical theoretically informed and empirically grounded original research contributions using diverse approaches experimental observational and intervention studies conceptual framing expert opinions and reviews from across the world The Research Topic proposes a multi dimensional approach to improving the management of COVID 19 with scientific contributions from all areas of virology immunology clinical microbiology epidemiology therapeutics communications as well as infection prevention and public health risk assessment and management studies The Publishers Weekly ,1921 The Lather ,1917 Normal Instructor and Teachers World ,1930 2016, Engineering Record, Building Record and Sanitary Engineer ,1887 The United States Army and Navy Journal and Gazette of the Regular and Volunteer Forces ,1893 The Sanitary Engineer and Construction Record ,1887 Lather.
