Life Science Paper1 Memorandum September 201

Sir Norman Lockyer

Life Science Paper1 Memorandum September 201:

Hitler's Man in Havana Thomas D. Schoonover, 2008-09-12 When Heinz Lüning posed as a Jewish refugee to spy for Hitler's Abwehr espionage agency he thought he had discovered the perfect solution to his most pressing problem: how to avoid being drafted into Hitler's army. Lüning was unsympathetic to Fascist ideology but the Nazis' tight control over exit visas gave him no chance to escape Germany. He could enter Hitler's army either as a soldier or a spy. In 1941 he entered the Abwehr academy for spy training and was given the code name Lumann. Soon after Lüning began the service in Cuba that led to his ultimate fate of being the only German spy executed in Latin America during World War II. Lüning was not the only spy operating in Cuba at the time. Various Allied spies labored in Havana: the FBI controlled eighteen Special Intelligence Service operatives and the British counterintelligence section subchief Graham Greene supervised Secret Intelligence Service agents and Ernest Hemingway's private agents supplied inflated and inaccurate information about submarines and spies to the U.S. ambassador Spruille Braden. Lüning stumbled into this milieu of heightened suspicion and intrigue. Poorly trained and awkward at his work, he gathered little information worth reporting, was unable to build a working radio and improperly mixed the formulas for his secret inks. Lüning eventually was discovered by British postal censors and unwittingly provided the inspiration for Graham Greene's Our Man in Havana. In chronicling Lüning's unlikely trajectory from a troubled life in Germany to a Caribbean firing squad, Thomas D. Schoonover makes brilliant use of untapped documentary sources to reveal the workings of the famed Abwehr and the technical and social aspects of Lüning's spycraft. Using archival sources from three continents, Schoonover offers a narrative rich in atmospheric details to reveal the political upheavals of the time, not only tracking Lüning's activities but also explaining the broader trends in the region and in local counterespionage. Schoonover argues that ambitious Cuban and U.S. officials turned Lüning's capture into a grand victory. For at least five months after Lüning's arrest, U.S. and Cuban leaders J. Edgar Hoover, Fulgencio Batista, Nelson Rockefeller, General Manuel Benítez, Ambassador Spruille Braden and others treated Lüning as a dangerous key figure for a Nazi espionage network in the Gulf Caribbean. They reworked his image from low-level bumbler to master spy, using his capture for their own political gain. In the sixty years since Lüning's execution, very little has been written about Nazi espionage in Latin America, partly due to the reticence of the U.S. government. Revealing these new historical sources for the first time, Schoonover tells a gripping story of Lüning's life and capture, suggesting that Lüning was everyone's man in Havana but his own. Pathogens for War Donald H. Avery, 2013-04-28 Pathogens for War explores how Canada and its allies have attempted to deal with the threat of germ warfare, one of the most fearful weapons of mass destruction since the Second World War. In addressing this subject, distinguished historian Donald Avery investigates the relationship between bioweapons, poison gas and nuclear devices, as well as the connection between bioattacks and natural disease pandemics. Avery emphasizes the crucially important activities of Canadian biodefence scientists, beginning with Nobel Laureate Frederick Banting, at both the national level and through cooperative projects within the framework of an elaborate alliance system Delving into history through a rich collection of declassified documents Pathogens for War also devotes several chapters to the contemporary challenges of bioterrorism and disease pandemics from both national and international perspectives As such readers will not only learn about Canada s secret involvement with biological warfare but will also gain new insights into current debates about the peril of bioweapons one of today s greatest threats to world peace
