Complete Unit Guide Packet

Overview

The Gilded Age (1870s-1900) was a time of massive urbanization, industrialization, and economic growth. This period is characterized by the rise of a new class of wealthy industrialists, the Gilded Age, and the rapid growth of cities.

The Gilded Age was a time of rapid economic growth, especially in the North and West. Many people in America moved to cities in search of work and better living conditions. This period is also known for the rise of a new class of wealthy industrialists, the Gilded Age, and the rapid growth of cities.

Industrialization brought growth, industry, and the factory system, but it also brought problems of pollution, child labor, and the loss of traditional values.
