Directions: Read each passage. Based on the reading, answer the questions using complete sentences.

Scientists and crime solvers have something in common. They can both figure out what happened, even if no one was there to see it. They look for clues. The more clues that were left behind, the more likely they are to figure it out. If all of the clues point to the same conclusion, then they know what happened. Scientists have been gathering evidence for evolution for many years by looking at many different areas of science. Below are five areas of science that are discussed.

Paleontology shows us that organisms have changed gradually over time as reflected in the fossil record. Biogeography shows us how new species arise near the location of very similar species. Similar species share a common time and place. Developmental biology shows us that an organism builds on ancestral features as it develops from a single cell or embryo. Morphology shows us how organisms adapt ancestral features to new uses, even when there are more efficient solutions elsewhere in nature. Genetics shows us that we can group related species by the similarity of genes present in their genomes.

1. How are scientists like crime solvers? _____
2. What are the five areas of science mentioned that have evidence for evolution? _____

Paleontology - The Fossil Record

Scientists use the age of fossils as evidence for evolution. There are two ways of dating fossils: Relative dating and absolute dating. Relative dating uses a fossil's location in rock layers to determine that fossil's approximate age. Fossils found deeper in the ground are usually the oldest. Using the chart to the right, a paleontologist can therefore know that a fossil found in layer 1 at the dig site is older than a fossil found at layer 6, for example, by relative dating.

Absolute dating determines the fossil's actual age by measuring amount of an element called carbon-14 in the fossil. There is a mathematical formula that will calculate the rate of decay of this element. By measuring the carbon-14 levels and plugging it into the math formula, the scientist can know an actual number of years old a fossil is.

1. What are the two ways of finding the age of a fossil? _____
2. Describe how relative dating works. _____
3. What does absolute dating do? _____
4. Why is the element carbon-14 important for paleontologists? _____
