Globalization Difference And Human Security:

Globalization, Difference, and Human Security Mustapha Kamal Pasha, 2013-10-23 Globalization Difference and Human Security seeks to advance critical human security studies by re framing the concept of human security in terms of the thematic of difference Drawing together a wide range of contributors the volume is framed among others around the following key questions What are the silences and erasures of advancing a critical human security alternative without making recognition of difference its central plank How do we rethink the complex interplay of human security and difference in distinct and varied spatial and cultural settings produced by global forces What is the nexus between human security and the broader field of global development What new challenges to Human Security and International Relations are produced with the rise of the post liberal or post secular subject In what ways releasing human security from identification with the territorial state helps reconceptualize culture How does Human Security serve as a subspecies of modern humanitarian thought or the latter reinforce imperial imaginaries and the structures of order and morality Is the pursuit of indigenous rights fundamentally counterpoised to the pursuit of human security What difference it might make to take the doings and beings of communities of subsistence rather than basic needs wealth seeking individuals as a point of departure in critical human security studies How does reconstruction bind post war and post disaster states and societies into the global capitalist democratic political structure Globalization, Development and Human Security Anthony G. McGrew, Nana K. Poku, 2007-02-12 Whether globalization development and human security are inescapably trapped within a vicious circle or a virtuous circle is the central concern of this book Environmental and Human Security in the Arctic Gunhild Hoogensen Gjorv, Dawn Bazely, Marina Goloviznina, Andrew Tanentzap, 2013-10-08 This is the first comprehensive exploration of why human security is relevant to the Arctic and what achieving it can mean covering the areas of health of the environment identity of peoples supply of traditional foods community health economic opportunities and political stability The traditional definition of security has already been actively employed in the Arctic region for decades particularly in relation to natural resource sovereignty issues but how and why should the human aspect be introduced What can this region teach us about human security in the wider world The book reviews the potential threats to security putting them in an analytical framework and indicating a clear path for solutions Contributions come from natural social and humanities scientists hailing from Canada Russia Finland and Norway Environmental Change and Human Security in the Arctic is an essential resource for policy makers community groups researchers and students working in the field of human security particularly for those in the Arctic regions Religion, Identity and Human Security Giorgio Shani, 2014-04-03 Religion Identity and Human Security seeks to demonstrate that a major source of human insecurity comes from the failure of states around the world to recognize the increasing cultural diversity of their populations which has resulted from globalization Shani begins by setting out the theoretical foundations dealing with the transformative effects of globalization on identity violence and security The second part of the volume then draws on different cases of sites of human insecurity around the globe to develop these ideas examining themes such as securitization of religious symbols retreat from multiculturalism rise of exclusivist ethno religious identities post 9 11 state religion colonization and the racialization of migration Highlighting that religion can be a source of both human security and insecurity in a globalizing world Shani offers a critical human security paradigm that seeks to de secularize the individual by recognizing the culturally contested and embedded nature of human identities The work argues that religion serves an important role in re embedding individuals deracinated from their communities by neo liberal globalization and will be of interest to students of International Relations Security Studies and Religion and Politics

Critical Perspectives on Human Security David Chandler,Nik Hynek,2010-09-13 This new book presents critical approaches towards Human Security which has become one of the key areas for policy and academic debate within Security Studies and IR The Human Security paradigm has had considerable significance for academics policy makers and practitioners Under the rubric of Human Security security policy practices seem to have transformed their goals and approaches re prioritising economic and social welfare issues that were marginal to the state based geo political rivalries of the Cold War era Human Security has reflected and reinforced the reconceptualisation of international security both broadening and deepening it and in so doing it has helped extend and shape the space within which security concerns inform international policy practices However in its wider use Human Security has become an amorphous and unclear political concept seen by some as progressive and radical and by others as tainted by association with the imposition of neo liberal practices and values on non Western spaces or as legitimizing attacks on Iraq and Afghanistan This book is concerned with critical perspectives towards Human Security highlighting some of the tensions which can emerge between critical perspectives which discursively radicalise Human Security within frameworks of emancipatory possibility and those which attempt to deconstruct Human Security within the framework of an externally imposed attempt to regulate and order the globe on behalf of hegemonic power The chapters gathered in this edited collection represent a range of critical approaches which bring together alternative understandings of human security This book will be of great interest to students of human security studies and critical security studies war and conflict studies and international relations

Gendering Human Security in Afghanistan Ben Walter,2017-06-14 This book employs the concept of human security to show what the term means from the perspective of women in Afghanistan It engages with a well established debate in academic and policy making contexts regarding the utility of human security as a framework for understanding and redressing conflict The book argues that this concept allows the possibility of articulating the substantive experiences of violence and marginalisation experienced by people in local settings as well as their own struggles towards a secure and happy life In this regard it goes a long way to making sense of the complex dynamics of conflict which have confounded Western policy makers in their ongoing state building mission in Afghanistan However despite this inherent potential the idea of human security still needs refinement Crucially it has benefitted from critical feminist and critical social theories which provide the conceptual and methodological depth necessary to apprehend what a progressive ethical program of security looks like and how it can be furthered Using this framework the work provides a critical reconstruction of the effect of the US led Western Intervention on women s experiences of in security in the three provincial contexts of Nangarhar Bamiyan and Kabul This reconstruction is drawn from a wealth of historical and contemporary sociological research alongside original fieldwork undertaken in Delhi India during 2011 with women and men from the country s different communities This book will be of much interest to students of human security state building gender politics war and conflict studies and IR in general
