Reimagining Communication in a Post-pandemic World: The Intersection of Information, Media Technology, and Psychology Runxi Zeng, Hichang Cho, Richard David Evans, Anfan Chen, 2023-04-05. The COVID 19 pandemic has dramatically changed social interactions. Social distancing policies, lockdowns and mandatory quarantines have accelerated the technological mediation of communication e.g. AI mediated communication, computer mediated communication on an unprecedented scale, willingly or otherwise. Many physical activities such as office work, education and conferences have had to be performed in the online space through social media apps, the metaverse or specialized programs on mobile phones or laptops as part of pandemic control efforts. As a result, digitally mediated channels have become critical for information acquisition and communication across a wide spectrum of human activities such as education, social interaction, entertainment and commercial activities. Human beings are increasingly reliant on non-human agents including social media, Artificial Intelligence, AI powered tools or smartphone/mobile devices for most routine activities, professional communication.

and social interactions As scientific understanding of COVID 19 improves pandemic restrictions are gradually loosening However it remains to be seen whether the pandemic communication paradigm characterized by heavy technological mediation and reliance on non human agents will also gradually decline or will the paradigm shift become deeply entrenched with further acceleration of dependency on technological mediation and non human agents Texas Education Laws and Regulations 2003 LEXIS Publishing, Texas, 2003
