Angle Measure

Definition: Angles that share a common vertex have a common endpoint. They share a ray. The ray that has different endpoints is called the common endpoint's arm. The angle is the region that is between the two rays that share the vertex.

Definition: Angles that share a common endpoint or the common endpoint but do not share the ray are called adjacent angles. Adjacent angles cannot be identified from their rays.

Example 1:

- These are adjacent angles because they share a vertex, a ray, and angles that add to 180° . The other angles are not adjacent because they do not share a ray. $\angle ABC + \angle BAC = 180^\circ$ and $\angle ABC + \angle CAD = 180^\circ$.
- Name the adjacent angles.

Example 2: A line is made up of right angles, and adjacent angles are formed by adjacent rays to the common angles.

- $\angle ABC$
Using supplementary angles to find the measure of the angle.
