

Med Surg Exam: All Question and Answers

A nurse is collecting data regarding a client after a thyroidectomy and notes that the client has developed hoarseness and a weak voice. Which nursing action is appropriate?

1. Check for signs of bleeding.
2. Administer calcium gluconate.
3. Notify the registered nurse immediately.
- 4. Reassure the client that this is usually a temporary condition.

rationale Weakness and hoarseness of the voice can occur as a result of trauma of the laryngeal nerve. If this develops, the client should be reassured that the problem will subside in a few days. Unnecessary talking should be discouraged. It is not necessary to notify the registered nurse immediately. These signs do not indicate bleeding or the need to administer calcium gluconate.

A nurse is assisting with preparing a teaching plan for the client with diabetes mellitus regarding proper foot care. Which instruction should be included in the plan of care?

1. Soak the feet in hot water.
2. Avoid using soap to wash the feet.
- 3. Apply a moisturizing lotion to dry feet, but not between the toes.
4. Always have a podiatrist cut your toenails; never cut them yourself.

rationale The client should use a moisturizing lotion on his or her feet, but should avoid applying the lotion between the toes. The client should also be instructed to not soak the feet and to avoid hot water to prevent burns. The client may cut the toenails straight across and even with the toe itself, but he or she should consult a podiatrist if the toenails are thick or hard to cut or if his or her vision is poor. The client should be instructed to wash the feet daily with a mild soap.

A nurse provides dietary instructions to a client with diabetes mellitus regarding the prescribed diabetic diet. Which statement, if made by the client, indicates the need for further teaching?

1. "I'll eat a balanced meal plan."
2. "I need to drink diet soft drinks."
- 3. "I need to buy special dietetic foods."
4. "I will snack on fruit instead of cake."
