
JOINING LETTER

Dear Anna Divine,

Good day!

Concerning the appointment letter from your kind office, it is with great pleasure that I am writing to inform you of my desire to join your team as a Developer at the American Realty on August 30, 2030.

In line with this, I accept the terms and conditions mentioned in the appointment letter packet. I shall thereby properly discharge all of my duties and responsibilities, and shall abide by the rules and regulations as stated by the company handbook.

I feel that I can make a significant contribution to the company Company Name. Thus, I am grateful for the opportunity you have presented me with.

Regards,

Rebecca Peters

Talent Balancing Jim Stedt, 2005-12-30

When the economy was booming it was hard to find good people winning the talent war was a popular phrase and those individuals with the right stuff could command hefty salaries and perks. When the economy crumbled the headhunters were sent packing. Today companies are starting to hire again but instead of recruiting a group of fifty they're hiring five. They're outsourcing and hiring temps. They're replacing staff due to turnovers retirements and areas that were downsized rather than expanding. They're relying on reduced HR departments and in house managers and staff to make critical staffing decisions. Surprisingly in this environment good people are hard to find the top performers are staying where they are and it's the weak and marginal performers that make up most of the available talent pool. Talent Balancing draws from the author's 35 years in the field to present a fresh and practical approach to recruiting in today's volatile and uncertain environment. In particular Talent Balancing will help entrepreneurs and managers without formal recruitment training navigate organizational politics analyze current and future staffing needs and execute a successful plan. Whether you are ramping up a new team or department or filling a temporary spot Talent Balancing provides a wealth of insights and tools to ensure that your organization meets both immediate and long term goals
