

Little Bird Learns to Fly

Story By: Meredith Williams

Every day, Mother took Little Bird and his brother and sister out of their nest. She led them down the long leafy branches of their tree. "It's time to learn to fly!" Mother Bird chirped one sunny spring morning. The birds took turns flapping their wings to try out their new feathers. Sister and Brother Bird hopped down the branch moving their wings up and down. Little Bird would flap his wings, but no matter how hard he tried, he could not fly as high as his brother and sister.

Soon, Brother and Sister began flying everywhere. They flew down to the ground to get water from a puddle and grabbed berries to eat as a snack. Little Bird watched them from the safety of the branch. "Come on, Little Bird. You can do it!" said Brother. "Flap your wings like this," called Sister as she flew through the air. "I can't fly, I don't know how," Little Bird said to his mother. "You will learn to fly, you just have to keep practicing," explained Mother.

Little Bird spent the next few days flapping his wings and hopping down the branch. Each time he got a little higher, but he was too afraid to hop off the branch to test his wings. Then, one morning while he was practicing, Little Bird felt the wind blow through his feathers and a drop of rain hit his beak. "It's time to come back to the nest, it's starting to rain!" called his mother. All at once, a strong gust of wind blew Little Bird off the branch. He flapped his wings just as he had practiced many times. Before he knew it, he was flying. "Look at Little Bird, he is flying!" squeaked Brother. Little Bird's family flew over to him chirping happily. "You did it!" they shouted with joy. Little Bird's practice had paid off. He could finally fly! Together, they spent the rest of the rainy day flying, singing, and cheering for Little Bird.

Linguistic Rivalries Sonia N. Das, 2016-10-05 Linguistic Rivalries weaves together anthropological accounts of diaspora nation and empire to explore and analyze the multi faceted processes of globalization characterizing the migration and social integration experiences of Tamil speaking immigrants and refugees from India and Sri Lanka to Montréal Québec in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries. In Montréal a city with more trilingual speakers than in any other North American city Tamil migrants draw on their multilingual repertoires to navigate longstanding linguistic rivalries between anglophone and francophone and Indian and Sri Lankan nationalist leaders by arguing that Indians speak Spoken Tamil and Sri Lankans speak Written Tamil as their respective heritage languages. Drawing on ethnographic archival and linguistic methods to compare and contrast the communicative practices and language ideologies of Tamil heritage language learning in Hindu temples Catholic churches public schools and community centers this book demonstrates how processes of sociolinguistic differentiation are mediated by ethnonational religious class racial and caste hierarchies. Indian Tamils showcase their use of the cosmopolitan sounds and scripts of colloquial varieties of Tamil to enhance their geographic and social mobilities whereas Sri Lankan Tamils dispossessed of their homes by civil war instead emphasize the primordialist sounds and scripts of a pure literary Tamil to rebuild their homeland and launch a global critique of racism and environmental destruction from the diaspora. This book uses the ethnographic and archival study of Tamil mobility and immobility to expose the mutual constitution of elite and non elite global modernities defined as language ideological projects in which migrants objectify dimensions of time and space through scalar metaphors.
