Home Toni Morrison, 2012-05-08 NATIONAL BESTSELLER A New York Times Notable Book From the acclaimed Nobel Prize winner an emotional powerhouse of a novel about a modern Odysseus returning to a 1950s America mined with lethal pitfalls for an unwary Black man When Frank Money joined the army to escape his too small world he left behind his cherished and fragile little sister Cee After the war he journeys to his native Georgia with a renewed sense of purpose in search of his sister but it becomes clear that their troubles began well before their wartime separation Together they return to their rural hometown of Lotus where buried secrets are unearthed and where Frank learns at last what it means to be a man what it takes to heal and above all what it means to come home

Travel and Home in Homer's Odyssey and Contemporary Literature Carol Dougherty, 2019-06-20 Travel and Home in Homer's Odyssey and Contemporary Literature brings Homer's Odyssey together with contemporary literary texts ranging from Rebecca West's The Return of the Soldier to Marilynne Robinson's Housekeeping and Cormac McCarthy's The Road to produce new readings that reframe reorient and ultimately revise aspects of Homer's iconic story of travel and home While some novels share with the Odyssey a celebration of the creative process of improvisation to rethink the relationship between home and travel others draw upon nostalgia our complicated longing for home to unsettle the inevitability of return Rather than offering an explicit retelling of Homer's poem each of these novels prompts us to revisit the relationship between travel and home that Odysseus and Penelope embody to ask new questions of that well read text Does travel reinforce or destabilize our notion of home Are mobility and domesticity irrevocably gendered or can we imagine a world in which Penelope travels and Odysseus stays home Just as Odysseus continually reinvents his own identity with each new encounter both abroad and at home so too we as readers participate in an improvisatory interpretive experiment of our own This volume sets out a new model for reading ancient and contemporary texts together one that challenges the conventional chronological assumptions inherent in many works of classical reception No longer a stable text to which we as readers return time and again to find it the same the Odyssey together with the novels with which it engages changes and adapts with each new literary encounter

A House for Mr. Biswas V. S. Naipaul, 2010-10-20 From the Nobel Prize winning author an unforgettable comedy of manners inspired by the author's father that has been hailed as one of the twentieth century's finest novels A marvelous prose epic that matches the best nineteenth century novels for richness of comic insight and final tragic power Newsweek In his forty six short years Mr Mohun Biswas has been fighting against destiny to achieve some semblance of independence only to face a lifetime of calamity Shuttled from one residence to another after the drowning death of his father for which he is inadvertently responsible Mr Biswas yearns for a place he can call home But when he marries into the domineering Tulsi family on whom he indignantly becomes dependent Mr Biswas embarks on an arduous and endless struggle to weaken their hold over him and purchase a house of his own A heartrending dark yet comedic novel A House for Mr Biswas masterfully evokes a man's quest for autonomy against an emblematic post colonial canvas Gay Faulkner Phillip Gordon,2019-12-30 The life and works of William Faulkner have generated numerous biographical studies exploring how Faulkner understood southern history race his relationship to art and his place in the canons of American and world literature However some details on Faulkner s life collected by his early biographers never made it into published form or when they did appeared in marginalized stories and cryptic references The biographical record of William Faulkner s life has yet to come to terms with the life long friendships he maintained with gay men the extent to which he immersed himself into gay communities in Greenwich Village and New Orleans and how profoundly this part of his life influenced his apocryphal creation of Yoknapatawpha County Gay Faulkner Uncovering a Homosexual Presence in Yoknapatawpha and Beyond explores the intimate friendships Faulkner maintained with gay men among them Ben Wasson William Spratling and Hubert Creekmore and places his fiction into established canons of LGBTQ literature including World War I literature and representations of homosexuality from the Cold War The book offers a full consideration of his relationship to gay history and identity in the twentieth century giving rise to a new understanding of this most important of American authors The Cambridge Companion to William Faulkner Philip M. Weinstein,1995-01-27 This collection of essays by ten major scholars explores Faulkner s widespread cultural import No More Heroes Lydia R. Cooper,2011-05-03 No More Heroes directly addresses the essential question about McCarthy s morally ambiguous and apocalyptic world revealing poignant new answers that will enlighten critics and general readers alike Cooper evaluates all of McCarthy s work to date carefully exploring the range of his narrative techniques to reveal rare but powerful moments of internal yearnings and commitment to justice or compassion that separate McCarthy s work from absolute amorality Cooper shows that there does exist a strain of heroism in the otherwise brutal universe of Cormac McCarthy s work Power Lines Jennifer L. Lieberman,2017-07-14 How electricity became a metaphor for modernity in the United States inspiring authors from Mark Twain to Ralph Ellison At the turn of the twentieth century electricity emerged as a metaphor for modernity Writers from Mark Twain to Ralph Ellison grappled with the idea of electricity as both life force illumination and death spark electrocution The idea that electrification created exclusively modern experiences took hold of Americans imaginations whether they welcomed or feared its adoption In Power Lines Jennifer Lieberman examines the apparently incompatible notions of electricity that coexisted in the American imagination tracing how electricity became a common though multifarious symbol for modern life Lieberman examines a series of moments of technical change when electricity accrued new social meanings plotting both power lines and the power of narrative lines in American life and literature While discussing the social construction of electrical systems she offers a new interpretation of Twain s use of electricity as an organizing metaphor in A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur s Court describes the rhetoric surrounding the invention of electric execution analyzes Charlotte Perkins Gilman s call for human connection in her utopian writing and in her little known Human Work considers the theme of electrical interconnection in Jack London's work and shows how Ralph Ellison and Louis Mumford continued the literary tradition of electrical metaphor. Electrical power was a distinctive concept in American literary, cultural, and technological histories. For this reason, narratives about electricity were particularly evocative, bridging the realistic and the romantic, the historical and the fantastic. These stories guide us to ask new questions about our enduring fascination with electricity and all it came to represent.

The Geographies of African American Short Fiction Kenton Rambsy, 2022-03-25. Perhaps the brevity of short fiction accounts for the relatively scant attention devoted to it by scholars who have historically concentrated on longer prose narratives. The Geographies of African American Short Fiction seeks to fill this gap by analyzing the ways African American short story writers plotted a diverse range of characters across multiple locations: small towns, a famous metropolis, city sidewalks, a rural wooded area, apartment buildings, a pond, a general store, a prison, and more. In the process, these writers highlighted the extents to which places and spaces shaped or situated racial representations. Presenting African American short story writers as cultural cartographers, author Kenton Rambsy documents the variety of geographical references within their short stories to show how these authors make cultural spaces integral to their artwork and inscribe their stories with layered and resonant social histories. The history of these short stories also documents the circulation of compositions across dozens of literary collections for nearly a century. Anthology editors solidified the significance of a core group of short story authors, including James Baldwin, Toni Cade Bambara, Charles Chesnutt, Ralph Ellison, Zora Neale Hurston, and Richard Wright. Using quantitative information and an extensive literary dataset, The Geographies of African American Short Fiction explores how editorial practices shaped the canon of African American short fiction.

Over the years, cars have helped to define the experiences and self-perceptions of women in complex and sometimes unexpected ways. When women take the wheel, family structure and public space are reconfigured and re-gendered, creating a context for a literary tradition in which the car has served as a substitute for an escape from and an extension of the home, as well as a surrogate mother, a financial safeguard, and a means of self-expression. Driving Women examines the intersection of American fiction, primarily but not exclusively by women, and automobile culture. Deborah Clarke argues that issues critical to twentieth-century American society—technology, mobility, domesticity, and agency—are repeatedly articulated through women's relationships with cars. Women writers took surprisingly intense interest in car culture and its import for modern life, as the car replete with material and symbolic meaning recast literal and literary female power in the automotive age. Clarke draws on a wide range of literary works, both canonical and popular, to document women's fascination with cars from many perspectives: historical, psychological, economic, ethnic. Authors discussed include Wharton Stein Faulkner O Connor Morrison Erdrich Mason Kingsolver Lopez Kadohata Smiley Senna Viramontes Allison and Silko By investigating how cars can function as female space reflect female identity and reshape female agency this engaging study opens up new angles from which to approach fiction by and about women and traces new directions in the intersection of literature technology and gender Directory of Corporate Affiliations ,1990 Described as Who owns whom the family tree of every major corporation in America the directory is indexed by name parent and subsidiary geographic location Standard Industrial Classification SIC Code and corporate responsibility American Writers Leonard Unger,A.
