Innovation in China Richard P. Appelbaum, Cong Cao, Xueying Han, Rachel Parker, Denis Simon, 2018-10-15 China is in the midst of transitioning from a manufacturing based economy to one driven by innovation and knowledge. This up to date analysis evaluates China's state led approach to science and technology and its successes and failures. In recent decades China has seen huge investments in high tech science parks, a surge in home grown top ranked global companies and a significant increase in scientific publications and patents. Helped by state policies and a flexible business culture, the country has been able to leapfrog its way to a more globally competitive position. However, the authors argue that this approach might not yield the same level of progress going forward if China does not address serious institutional, organizational and cultural obstacles. While not impossible, this task may well prove to be more difficult for the Chinese Communist Party than the challenges that China has faced in the past.

Ageing, Long-term Care Insurance and Healthcare Finance in Asia Sabrina Ching Yuen Luk, 2020-01-06 This book uses a revised version of Kingdon's multiple streams framework to examine health financing reforms in China, Hong Kong, Taiwan and the Republic of Korea (ROK) as well as long term care insurance (LTCI) reforms in Japan and Singapore. It shows that the explanatory power of the multiple streams framework can be strengthened through enriching the concepts of policy entrepreneurs, ideas and windows of opportunity in the original framework as well as bringing the theoretical lens of historical institutionalism into the framework.
